Back to School Shopping Reminders

Here's some reminders/guidelines for our early bird back to school shoppers:

- The costs of school fees and supplies are covered by the Regional Authority or CSD site.
- You must submit original receipts to be reimbursed.
- Each child (particularly those who are not siblings) MUST have separate receipts! If receipts are NOT separated, they will be processed last (and there are a lot of them)! As well - we do ask that receipts are submitted in a timely manner.
- A list of required supplies provided by the child's school must accompany the receipts (these can usually be obtained from the school's website). If a list is not available, or you're purchasing items not on the list, the Case Worker/CSD Worker must pre-approve expenses.
- Exceptionally high priced items (e.g. calculators or expensive gym shoes) require Case Worker/CSD Worker approval before they're purchased.
- Receipts must always show the date on which the items were purchased as well as method of payment (e.g. cash, debit).
- For those who have children utilizing bus passes, we request that you make every effort to pay bus and other school fees on a monthly basis and submit receipts for these to the office at the end of every month.

As always - thanks for your cooperation at this busy time of year!

Where are the Children? Healing the Legacy of the Residential Schools is a powerful travelling exhibition by the Legacy of Hope Foundation that explores the history and consequences of the Residential School System in Canada with the goal of contributing to the healing and understanding required for reconciliation. Through Survivor stories and archival photographs the exhibition covers over 125 years of history, transitioning through the stages of a child leaving home to arriving at school and participating in class activities. It provides a wide range of perspectives, from stories about the children who never returned home to contemporary Indigenous role models. This exhibition was curated by renowned Iroquois artist Jeff Thomas.

Please note that this exhibition contains subject matter that may be upsetting to some visitors.
